Citizens Meet With Supervisors and Discuss Plans for a Modern Road System

Over one hundred citizens representing the several municipalities and the civic and improvement societies of the county r esponded to the supervisors' call Tuesday and attended a meeting at which the plans for the improvement of the county's highways were considered. It was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings that has yet assembled in the new courthouse. Progress was its keynote and this sentiment was unanimous.

Chairman McEvoy called the meeting to order and welcomed the visitors, congratulating them on the interest they had shown. He said that the object of the meeting was one of the most vital in he county's history and if the plan to build a system of modern highways is carried out it will redound more to the county's benefit than any other agency. He asked the unselfish assistance of the meeting, and that it be given in the same spirit that the members of the board give their services, for the good of the greatest number. "If we are to reap the benefit of improved roads," said Mr. McEvoy, "we must get busy. The date of the great exposition is rapidly approaching and we must be ready for that event." He called upon those present for suggestions.

Judge Cunningham was the first to respond with an argument in favor of what is known as the Bay road leading from the San Francisco line to the town of South San Francisco. The present width of the road is 66 feet but the South City people desire a roadway 100 feet wide. It is destined to be the business thoroughfare out of the metropolis because it is the shortest into the county. Provision should be made to accommodate not only the common vehicles but the automobiles and the auto-trucks which will handle the freight of the future. He would pay more attention to grades than to pavements. Mr. Cunningham said that the necessary land to widen the road to 100 feet could be procured from the Crocker Estate Company, which matter the citizens of his city would attend to without cost to the county.

Referring to the continuation of the road south to the Mission road Mr. Cunningham said that a much shorter route could be had through the lands of the South San Francisco Land Company without cost, and the Tanforan property, possibly condemning a short distance, and westerly to the Mission road. The crossing at the railroad could be made through a subway which would remove the danger caused by the two railroad lines.

D. Bromfield of San Mateo said that in such an undertaking as was planned the board should keep in mind the future needs of the county. Time had wrought changes in the county's industries and the day of heavy traffic was rapidly passing. He argued strongly in favor of a scenic road along the adjacent foothills which would make accessible to homeseekers one of the most delightful sections of the county. A road down the coast was also needed to carry the produce of that part of the county which is destined to be the garden part of the State. The mountain roads will be the pleasure drives of the future.

Dr. Morgan of Halfmoon Bay had a word to say for his section of the county and maintained that the greater part of its produce was marketed in San Mateo and Burlingame, while that of San Gregorio and south of that place was hauled across the mountain to Redwood City and Palo Alto.

W. J. Martin said that the proposed system of new roads was for the unification of the county. The scenic boulevard would come later. He favored the report presented by the surveyor.

W. B. Lawrence thought that action on a bond issue should be deferred until it is known whether the State Highway Commission will build through the incorporated cities. If the State will not do his work then the county should do it. The cities are taxed heavily for street building and should be asisted by the county.

George Howard of San Mateo said that there was a strong sentiment in his part of the county in favor of the bond issue. He was confident that it would carry at the polls.

Charles N. Kirkbride of San Mateo inquired if the board had any definite informaton as to whether the State Highway Commission would build its road through the incorporated cities. He felt that the bond issue would have a more general support of the cities were asured some assistance by the board.

W. J. Martin suggested that the surveyor make an estimate of the cost of completing the state highway within the incorporated cities and if the state commission refuses to do that work the county can provide for it in the bond issue. It would be no more than just to the cities.

M. B. Johnson of Moss Beach urged the board to act promptly in calling an election on the bond issue. The coastside had long ago considered the advisability of forming a district to build a boulevard through its country but the people were willing to join in a general county issue for the benefit of all sections. He hoped there would be no unnecessary delay.

S. D. Merk of Burlingame spoke forcefully on the subject of good roads and the value of getting to work without loss of time. E. I. Woodman addressed the board on the same lines and both speakers won the hearty applause of the assembled citizens.

R. S. Thornton, the county's pioneer gave some early road history and to'd of the good roads movements that he had seen while on a late visit to the east.

In order to make the question of the municipalities clear to the board. Supervisor Brown read the code section which permitted cities to surrender streets to the county authorities under such conditions as those that were being discussed.

During the afternoon the discussion was again taken up. The chairman stated that there were eight miles of roadway within the incorporated cities which could be constructed of asphaltum for $200,000. This amount could be saved by lopping off certain portions of roads not needed at this time, among which would be the road from Pescadero to the county line.

Committees from each township examined the plans and with slight modifications they were approved, after which the following resolution presented by H. C. Tuchsen, was adopted by a rising vote:

Resolved, that this mass meeting of the citizens of San Mateo County held this 25th day of June, 1912, hereby endorses the project for the bonding of San Mateo County for a system of good roads as outlined in the report of County Surveyor, James V. Neuman, with such changes as may be deemed necessary in the discretion of the Board of Supervisors, and be it further,

Resolved, that arrangements shall be made for the construction of a highway of asphaltic character through the incorporated towns of the county on the most direct and feasible route as a part of the proposed bond issue, and be it further,

Resolved, that all possible puplicity, including maps, be furnished the press of the county, the various Boards of Trustees and civic organizations by the Board of Supervisors and the Development Association, ann be it further,

Resolved, that the bond election be held as soon as possible the exact date being left to the discretion of the Board of Supervisors.

It was decided to begin the c ampaign of education at once, the representatives of the different county papers agreeing to contribute their influence toward the good cause without charge.

Among those who were present and took part in the discussion were the following: George Perham of Colma, William Makt of Visitacion, Judge Johnson of Vista Grande, E. M. Moores of Burlingame, Mr. McEldowney of Easton, D. P. Fullerton of San Mateo, H. Smith of Vista Grande, Mayor Freyer of Daly City, Joseph J. Hahir of Redwood City, Jas. Callan and W. J. Savage of Colma, Gus Johnson of Daly City, J. D. Daly of San Francisco and Jesse Robb of Milbrae.

MRS. CUMBERSON RETIRES FROM PRESIDENCY OF CLUB.

Mrs. C. E. Cumberson, organizer of the Redwood City Woman's Club, who has been president since the club's organization, turned over the gave' to Mrs. George Merrill Thursday afternoon. It marked the close of Mrs Cumberson's third term of office and the most eventful year in the club's history.

Thomas W. Epperly, for many years an estemed resident of Redwood City, passed away at his home on Arguello street Monday night, his death being the result of an accident, which occurred Friday at the ranch of James Curran near this city. Ever Think Of It?

THE WAY IS PLAIN.

The Times-Gazette has alwas been a consistent adherent of the principles of the Republican party, the party under whose guidance for more than half a century this Nation has prospered. We shall continue that adherence in the future as faithfully as we have in the past. Always a firm believer in the rule of the majority, that great fundamental principle upon which the perpetuity of our benificent form of government depends, we hold acquiescence in the decisions of a majority of the representatives of the party to be a paramount duty. For any voter to whom the traditions of the Republican party mean anything, we regard the way as now clear. There should be no hesitancy in the support of the nominees of its convention.

With Taft and Sherman as the standard bearers of a party of sound Americanism, we have the promise of continued reform within the law and a strict enforcement of the constitutional rule of the country. President Taft again goes before the people, this time asking for their suffrages upon his record, a record any public man might well envy. A record, not of blatant promises, but of actual accomplishments. He needs only to point to what he has accomplished in the past as a guarantee of what he will do in the future. He stands, too, upon a platform which is broad enough and progressive enough to satisfy any man who cares more for his great country and its constitutional traditions than his own little fads.

President Taft was entitled to a renomination at the hands of his party. It has been given to him, and with it a vindication of his course, as well as an endorsement of Taft the citizen and Taft the President. That endorsement and vindication is now submitted to the nation for the ratification of the people and this we doubt not it will receive in November next.

SPIRIT OF CONTRACT MUST BE OBSERVED

Superior Judge Buck Renders Decision Which Saves Old Man's Property Rights

Judge Buck this week rendered a decision in the case of L. Woodward against the Glenwood Lumber Company. The trial of the case consumed two weeks and was submitted to the court on June 3d. Plaintiff brought the suit to make null and void a contract entered into seven years ago. The contention of the plaintiff that the lumbercompany failed to carry out the terms of the agreement was upheld by the court. Following is the opinion of the court in full:

This case was submitted to the Court on June 3d, current, upon briefs to be filed.

It is one of the most disagreeable cases I have had to pass upon—one reason being that all the parties seem to want to do right, but were lead into the present difficulties by poor business management upon the part of one of the parties. While it is not material, yet from the pleadings and the evidence it appears that the plaintiff is well along in years and needed for his support the income provided by the contract entered into between the plaintiff and the defendant, Glenwood Lumber Co., on November 14, 1904. Upon this point there is no question. The above mentioned contract, if carried out, would give the plaintiff sufficient money to carry him down the final steps of life. Now, nearly seven years after its execution, the plaintiff finds that he has no income, and I might say, considering its smallness, has virtually received nothing of value from his lengthy contract, and there was no evidence presented to the Court indicating in the remotest degree that he ever will receive one cent from it for his support in his declining years, or at all.

It is a peculiar situation in which the plaintiff is placed, with sufficient property to nicely care for him, and yet it is so entangled by this contract that he is not and for all that appears will never receive one cent from this magnificent property.

The plaintiff should be permitted to at least live out of and from his own property. I have a right to assume that this property could be sold at this time for a large sum of money, if the plaintiff had title to it. It is so tied up now that it is extremely doubtful if the plaintiff could realize any money from it, and his only recourse is to call on his friends or the state for help, notwithstanding the large amount in value of property he has and his right to which he is now trying to have this Court by this action determine. There should be some method to adjust this matter. The parties defendant simply claim some rights under the contract of November 14, 1905, or at least the defendants come into Court and by the terms of that agreement claim the absolute right to hold possession of this property without any effort on their part to manufacture and ship this lumber and to exclude the plaintiff from the fruits of his labors of his better years. Further than that there was not a particle of evidence presented to this Court to show that any of the defendants had any future plans to carry out the terms of this contract and by so doing aid the plaintiff, or that they ever had any views upon the question. As far as this Court is concerned it will determine this matter and settle the property rights of these parties in as careful a manner as possible under the difficulties presented, leaving any errors committed for a higher court to correct. There is no doubt in my mind that the parties to this contract had in mind at the time it was signed that the Ocean Shore Railroad would be completed across the Gazos Creek in the year 1906. There is further no doubt in my mind but what the parties at that time contemplated the shipping of lumber manufactured from this land over that railroad. Yet this was but an incident of the contract. From the evidence, especially that presented by the letters of Mr. Bloom, who was the leading spirit in all these transactions, it seems that the shipping of the lumber by the way of Pigeon Point was in contemplation prior to the execution of this contract and the only reason it war not carried out was that the cost to ship by way of Pigeon Point was greater than they expected it would be to ship by way of the proposed railroad. Yet there were no shipments made by the railroad for it was never built, and hence this claim of increased cost was simply a supposition in the minds of the defendants. From the surroundings possibly this Court might assume that it would cost some more to ship by way of Pigeon Point than by the railroad if one were construcsted. Yet their own uncontradicted evidence is that lumber was worth at least five dollars a thousand more a few months after this contract was signed than it was on November 14, 1905, the date of its being signed. A careful, prudent business man would before the signing of this contract, or at least as soon thereafter as possible, have made some definite arrangement to ship this lumber—large in amount as it was—by the way of Pigeon Point if occasion should demand it. Arrangements were made to ship by way of Pigeon Point, and some lumber, amounting to over four million feet, was shipped that way; but lack of the applicatian of good business principles caused trouble, and shipping lumber that way ceased. If this matter of shipping lumber by way of Pigeon Point had been looked after properly by the defendants this suit would never have been brought and the lumber on this land would be shipped by the way of Pigeon Point.

After they ceased shipping lumber Pigeon Point was damaged by fire; but the evidence shows that this damage could have been repaired in a few days. It is further admitted that shipments of this lumber can be made by way of Pigeon Point at this time. But the defendants say that it is not only to expensive, but that their contract of November 14, 1905, was to ship over the Ocean Shore Railroad and that is the only way they will ship.

An officer of that railroad company was put on the witness stand by the defendants and he could not say that that road would ever be completed or than as far as he knows there was any present probability of resuming work on it. In the face of this evidence this Court is asked to hold that the contract of November 14, 1905, between the plaintiff and the defendant Glenwood Lumber Company is a valid, subsisting contract, to run until the railroad is built across Gazos Creek, which might not be not only during the lives of the parties to it, but possibly for all time. This Court will do no such thing. Someone has to suffer, and the evidence shows that the defendants are the ones, for the reasons:

First—Because this Court does not agree with the defendants as to their interpretation of this contract, and

Second—For lack of business principles by the defendants in carrying out the terms of this contract.

Plrintiff will have judgment. Mr. Agdelotte will have his title quieted.

BUCK, Judge.

Non-Suit Petition Granted

The petition of attorneys for the estate of Mary A. Lee for non-suit in the case of George A. Haskell against the administrators of the estate for $25,000 damages, was granted by Judge Buck Thursday and the case was thrown out of courtbefore going to the jury. The suit was the outgrowth of an accident which occurred a year ago when Haskell's small son was crushed to death by the falling of one of the iron gates to the grounds of the estate. Ross & Ross and Theodore Roch represented the Lee heirs, while Willard and Farrell were the attorneys for Mr. Haskell.

TRUSTEES DISPOSE OF MUCH CITY BUSINESS

Old Claim of Surveyor Neuman Again Held Up---Applicants for Police Job Numerous

While the adjourned session of the city council last Tuesday evening was held primarily for the purpose of making final disposition of the six saloon license applications held up at the regular meeting a week ago, several other matters of public interest were given consideration. Immediately after the calling of the roll, to which all of the trustees responded present, Chairman Merrill presented the resignation of night watchman McGlynn, which had been handed to him last week. In presenting the resignation, Chairman Merrill explained that although it purported not to be effective until the end of the month, he had been informed that McGlynn had already turned in his star and that Marshal Coleman had appointed a temporary officer and that this action had been approved.

That the job is not one liable to go begging was made evident by the number of aspirants for the vacant place. As soon as the resignation had been accepted and the way cleared for the selection of a successor, Clerk Plump presented six written applications for the place. The first of these was from F. E. George, and was backed by a petition signed by a number of prominent business men urging his appointment. The remaining applicants, who contented themsleves with simply making their desire to serve the public known, were R. Svihus, Maurice Swift, James F. Kerr, H. T. Mansfield and C. Cofiori. Evidently the trustees were somewhat stalled at the number of aspirants and hesitated to make a selection offhand, as a motion to take the applications under advisement by Trustee Hynding met with a prompt second and unanimous approval.

Appearing on behalf of the former city engineer, Jas. V. Neuman, Attorney Lee T. Ross presented a communication from his client offering to accept a payment of $1000 as full satisfaction for all claims for work performed for the city in the preparation of street improvement plans and specifications. After the communication had been ready by the clerk, Mr. Ross presented and asked to have introduced a resolution approving the compromise as offered and directing that a warrant be drawn for the amount named While evidently the amount stated as a compromise offer was satisfactory to the trustees and had met their approval, it apparently was not the general understanding that payment of the amount was to be pressed at this time. Chairman Merrill raised the point that the warrant should not be drawn until such time as there was sufficient money in the general fund of the city to meet the payment. Trustees Hynding and Deleau coincided with this opinion, and while all seemed to approve the claim none were ready to offer a motion for the adoption of the resoultion at this time. For some time Mr. Ross urged that action be taken, and the matter settled so far as the trustees were concerned, although he intimated that he himself did not consider that the warrant if drawn could be cashed at this time. While Attorney Ross made a strong plea for his client, he failed to convince the trustees and for the want of some one to offer the necessary motion the matter went over without action.

Trustee Hynding reported that he had received an offer from Contractor Hess, who is making the excavations for the new hotel building, to haul a considerable quantity of dirt to the Jefferson street bridge, the cost to be 75 cents a load, and that he had accep'ed the offer and ordered the work done. The action of Trustee Hynding was approved by unanimous vote of the board.

A claim of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., for lighting during the month of May, the first month of the operation of the new contract for furnishing electric energy to the city for a total of $73.80 for the lighting of the streets and public buildings, includng the public library, was allowed. As compared with the month of April, the last one under the old contract, the claim shows a saving to the city of a little over $200 for the month. It is not expected that the actual saving 'n money in the future will be as great, from the fact that beginning with the 1st of the month the srteets have been lit all night instead of on the "moonlight schedule" as in the past.

Ordinance No. 119, which amends the original ordinance passed to provide for the sale of the recently ordered issue of municipal bonds was given its second reading and adopted.

Street Superintendent Dickey reported that while a majority of the property owners on Cedar street had complied with the order of the council requiring the construction of sidewalks, three owners, representing a frontage of nearly 350 feet, had failed to comply. The city attorney was directed to again notify the delinquent owners, with the understanding that if this action failed to bring prompt response, action would be taken under the street improvement act and the delinquent owners forced to bear the additional expense. Trustee Hynding again urged that a more general demand should be made for improved sidewalks, suggesting that all should be treated equally and that it was unfair to demand improvements of a portion of property while others escaped.

Trustee Hahir suggested that the Marshal give more strict attention to the enforcement of the ordinance requiring the removal of weeds from the streets and sidewalks, calling attention to the disreputable appearance of several portions of the city. While no direct action was taken, this suggestion evidently met the approval of the trustees.

With its business disposed of, the Council adjourned until the time of its next regular meeting, next Monday evening.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO.

Arrangements have practically been completed for the big Fourth of July celebration which is to be held in South San Francisco, commencing on the 1st and continuing until the evening of the 4th. The committee in charge of the big celebration have prepared a splendid program of entertainment for the immense crowds which are expected, and it is promised that there will not be a dull moment from the time the celebration opens until the last dance of the big ball with which it is to be closed on thenight of the Fourth. The celebration will open Monday evening with the crowning of the queen and the presentation of the keys of the city by Mayor Cunningham. The ceremony will be followed by a ball in honor of the queen at Metropolitan hall. There will be a round of sports and attractions for each day, but of course the Fourth will be the big day of all. On that day will be held the big parade, headed by the carnival Queen and Goddess of Liberty. A number of fraternal organizations will be represented in the parade, while one division wil be composed of the children of the public schools. The oration of the day will be delivered by Hon. Samuel M. Shortridge of Menlo Park. In the afternoon there will be contests by hose companies of the county and a championship baseball game. Arrangements are being made to accommodate several thousand visitors. Miss Leonora Parr will be Carnival Queen and Miss Fern Mahoney will be Goddess of Liberty.

The local school trustees have retained Geo. E. Brittan as supervising principal of the schools and Miss Natalie Hansen as his assistant.

The city trustees of South San Francisco are considering a plan for the reduction of the number of saloons in the town. With this idea in view a proposal has been submitted looking to a considerable increase in the license rate. In order to secure time for consideration of the plan, the present license ordinance isto be amended so as t o allow of the issuance of permits for sixmonths instead of a year, so that it may be possible to make the change in rate with the opening of the new year.

SAN MATEO AND BURLINGAME.

The trustees of the Burlingame school district have found a temporary solution of the much mooted question of a building in which to accommodate the pupils of the district. At the last meeting of the trustees, August Berg, a prominent Burlingame citizen, submitted an offer to erect a temporary structure to be rented to the district for school purposes, the location of the building to be determined by the trustees. According to the proposal the temporary structure will be two stories in height and equipped with modern sanitary provisions. This proposal has been accepted by the trustees and building will be commenced as soon as a location can be determined

It seems that the citizens of San Mateo who were opposed to the closing of El Cerito road propose to make use of the recall to voice their displeasure. A petition is being prepared asking for the recall of Trustees Campbell, O'Brien and Powers, three who voted for the closing of the street and whose action at the time were greeted with a storm of hisses.

After an extended investigation of the subject, a committee of citizens of Burlingame has submitted a report to the city council recommending the installation of a municipal water system and suggesting the incurring of a bonded indebtedness of $175,000 for that purpose. The suggestion for the purchase by the city of the present water system is not recoiamended, it being contended that the quality of the water is not satisfactory. The report will be considered Monday evening by the trustees at a joint meeting with the advisory committee and the engineers who have investigated the source of supply.

The city council of Burlingame has adopted a resolution prohibiting the discharge of firecrackers in that city on the Fourth of July.

SALOON KEEPERS MUST OBEY LAW

Heldup Licenses are Granted by Council After Applicants are Given Warning

When Mayor Merrill called the trustees to order in adjourned session Tuesday evening the lobby of the council chamber was more than filled with interested spectators, it was crowded, every chair being occupied and a considerable number were compelled to content themselves with standing room. Apparently the chief center of attraction was the final disposition to be made of the six application for saloon licenses which had been under consideration by the trustees for the past week and the greater portion of the unusual assemblage was composed of the men whose business opportunities were at stake and their friends, for after this question had been disposed of seats were easily to be obtained even by those who had a choice in location.

If those in attendance had expected any drastic action on the part of the Council they were doomed to disappointment, however, as in the end of all of the applications were approved without opposition. This action was not taken in any case, however, until it had been made plain to the applicant that it was the intent of the trustees that the provisions of the license regulations should receive a rigid adherence on the part of every person engaged in the business and that the holders of licenses were to be held strictly accountable for the conduct of the place for which he held a permit.

While in few instances were charges of a specific nature presented, and those not of a realy serious nature, each applicant was given a separate hearing and his attention called to the requirements of the law which he seemed to have overlooked. In each case Chairman Merrill acted as the spokesman for the Council, and he made it plainly evident that while there was no disposition on the part of the Council to insist upon oppressive measures, it was the feeling of the trustees that a due observance of the law and a hearty cooperation in its enforcement was quite as much in the interest of the men who were legitimately engaged in the business as for the prorection of the public. Through it all was one particular vein of caution and that was that the law which forbid the sale of liquor to prohibited persons must be complied with to the utmost letter.

In order that there might be a distinct understanding upon ever question or intimated infraction, the case of each applicant was considered individually. As each application was presented by the clerk, the applicant was called before the council and the particular complaint made in his case stated. While in most cases denials of the accusations or explanations of the difficulties were offered, each gave solemn promise that in the future there should be strict obedience to the law.

After each applicant had been given a little plain talk by Chairman Merrill a motion to grant the application was offered by Trustee Sampson, chairman of the police committee and the application granted by the unanimous vote of the trustees.

In the cases of E. F. Schumacher and Maloney Bros. no fault had been found with the conduct of the places. The only question in these applications being the actual ownership of the places. In the case of Mr. Schumacher, who is in business at Richmond, the Council was assured by Mr. Schumacher that within 90 days he would either dispose of the place or return and conduct it himself. In the case of Maloney Bros. the objection was the reputed sale of the place to a party who had been refused a license. This was settled by an assurance from Mr. Maloney that the trade had been definitely called off. While insisting that the Council must know who is the actual owner of a place, Chairman Merrill stated that since he had been given a full explanation of the action of Mr. Burke in connection with the sale of liquor at Menlo Park his chief objectons to him had been removed. As a finanl caution to the satisfied applicants, Mayor Merrill called attention to the fact that the licenses were issued for but one year and that chances of continuance in the business depended upon a hearty compliance with the efforts of the council to properly regulate its conduct.

SUPERVISORS HOLD REGULAR MEETING

County Board Holds Conferrence With Citizens to Ciscuss Road Improvement

The Board of Supervisors met in adjourned session Monday, June 24th, there being present P. H. McEvoy presiding, and Wm. H. Brown, Jas. T. Casey and Joseph M. Francis

Brown reported that he had consulted an expert mechanic in regard to having the seal in the rotunda of the courthouse repaired and had been informed that the displaced parts of the design could be procured at the factory and replaced at a small expense.

On motion of Francis, seconded by McEvoy, the report of Brown was accepted and he was authorized to have the seal repaired.

McEvoy addressed the board on behalf of the petition presented by he Redwood City Woman's Club for a donation toward the erection of a drinking fountain to the memory of the late Horace Hawes. He recalled some of the generous acts of Mr. Hawes on account of which he was kindly remembered by the old residents. It was eminently fitting that such recognition as was planned by the Woman's Club should be given him. He asked that the board make a donation of $25.

Brown said that the course recommended by McEvoy was proper and he moved that the sum of $25 be donated to the Woman's Club. His motion was seconded by Francis and carried.

A petition was presented, signed by a number of San Carlos citizens, asking that the San Carlos Syndicate be permitted to remove some of the trees in front of the railroad station on the county road, it being the intention of the company to erect an ornamental fence at the entrance to the town and plant flowers and otherwise beautify that location.

Brown spoke in favor of the pepetition. Many of the trees were unsightly and should be removed. The people of San Carlos were showing a commendable public spirit and he moved that the petition be granted. He was seconded by Francis and the motion carried.

A communication was received from the electrical workers of the county notifying the board that at the next meeting the necessary data would be presented from which to prepare an ordinance regulating electrical work.

Judge Fitzpatrick appeared on behalf of the A. L. Young Machine Company and asked the board to take action on claims of the company amounting to about $4000 for culvert pipe supplied to the Fifth road district.

Brown, stating that he was desirous of bringing the matter regularly before the board, moved the payment of the claims. He was of the opinion that the bills would ultimately have to be paid as the several members were authorized t purchase such culvert pipe as they needed. Casey seconded Brown's motion.

McEvoy was opposed to the payment of the claims as Supervisor Blackburn had exceeded his limit in buying culvert pipe thereby taking that which belonged to the other townships. He had also taken pipe at a higher price than the market value.

Francis was willing to abide by a court decision on the matter and sugested that the claimants begin suit to collect for the claims previously filed, amounting to $2,500, and if the decision was against the county he would vote to pay the claims under consideration which aggregated $1500.

After some further discussion Casey withdrew his second and the matter was dropped until the next meeting..

Mrs. A. Bader of San Mateo applied for aid for her orphan niece who is in her care. The application was granted on motion of Brown, seconded by Casey.

Mrs. F. N. Railton of Vista Grande applied for aid for two half orphan children and was granted same on motion of Casey, seconded by Francis.

Each of the children will be paid $6.25 monthly which amount will be returned to the county by the State.

District Attorney Swart advised the board that it would be legal to increase the number of lights in the San Bruno and Colma lighting districts so long as there is sufficient funds on hand to pay for the increase. It was his opinion that the original petition was still in effect. He read from the code in support of his statement.

Casey said that the electric company that was furnishing current to the two districts was willing to install additional lamps providing the district attorney considered such a course legal. He moved that two extra lamps be placed in the San Bruno district and nine in the Colma district in accordance with Mr. Swart's opinion. The motion was seconded by McEvoy and carried.

Francis was granted permission on motion of Casey, seconded by Brown, to make necessary repairs on Long Bridge at Tunita, the planking having been worn out by the heavy trucks that are hauling lumber to the Ocean Shore railroad.

The board spent the greater part of the afternoon in an examination of the report for the improvement of the county roads submitted by Surveyor Neuman at the last meeting and decided to pass the matter up to the citizens on the following day.
